House and Senate Pass the Resolution.

REAPPORTIONMENT DEAD

House Kills It by Substantial Vote, and Engrosses Jamestown Bill, Which Means Passage of the Latter Day's Session.

One of the interesting features of the legislative session yesterday was the passage by both houses, without debate or objection, of a joint resolution offered Davis, of Potersburg, directing the seageants-at-arms of the two bodies to proceed to Amherst forthwith and official notice upon Judge C. J. Campbell, that after the expiration of twenty days the Legislature would provote upon the question of his re moval upon the charges embraced in the findings of the body, a full copy of which are to accompnay the said notices.

The officers have gone to Amherst, and will make their return as early as possiaccording to the provisions of th moment in the session of the Senate. Mr. McIlwaine, from the Courts Committee, made a report setting forth that in the opinion of that body no town officers could be elected in the absence of legislative enactment prior to the firs resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution, restoring the held-over feature of the State Senate.

The House took important action on several matters. After a hard fight against the measure, led by Mr. Boaz, chairman of the Finance Committee, the ordered the Jamestown Exposition west into the battle whips leaving that district untouched. But this was not a drawing card, and the Eighth lined up strongly with the First, Third and others, where no change was

Mr. Mailwaine, from the Committee for Courts of Justice, presented the following report:

report: To the Senats of Virginia:

To the Senate of Virgina;
By resolution, agreed to on the 10th day of March, 1963, the Committee for Courts of Justice was "instructed to investigate and report to the Senate whether, under the Constitution, any elections for town officers can be held prior to the Tuceday after the first Monday in November next," and, in obedience to this resolution, the committee begs leave to report as follows:
By the terms of section 17 of the Con-

this resolution, the committee begs leave to report as follows:

By the terms of section 117 of the Constitution "each of the cities and towns of the State having at the time of the adoption of this Constitution a municipal charter may retain the same, except so far as it shall be repealed or amended by the General Assembly; provided, that every such charter is hereby amended so as to conform to all the provisions, restrictions, limitations and powers set forth in this article, or otherwise provided in this Constitution,"

Section 122 of the Constitution provides that "the mayor and council of cities

Section 122 of the Constitution provides that "the mayor and council of cities shall be elected on the second Tuesday in June" and that "all other elective officers provided for by this article or hereafter authorized by law shall be elected on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November."

In this section it is also provided "that

In this section it is also provided "that the General Assembly may change the time of election of all or any of the gald officers" with a restriction as to the mayor and council of cities.

Your committee is of the opinion that, in the absence of legislative enactment, there can be no election for town officers prior to the Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1903.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM B. WILLWAINE,

Chairman.

a statue of General Robert E. Lee in the Statuary Hall in the Capitol at Washington was announced by the chair.

"COMMISSIONERS OF REVENUE. There was a pretty little parliamentary fight when the bill in relation to the election of Commissioners of the Revenue by the direct vote of the people came up. Bome few Senators who had voted for the amended, act, that is to say, the change made in the House bill by the Senato amendment, making the commissioners elective all the time by the people, desired to change their votes. The Lieutenant-Governor ruled that these Senator had received recognition of the chair, were officially present and if they did not vote he would have, under the rules, to have them recorded as voting in the negative.

Air. Keezell was one of these Senators. He said that if he had been present on Monday he would have voted to reject the Senate amendment and to adopt the House measure. But he did not wish to be put in the attlude of contributing to the defeat of the act. If he was to be recorded at all he would vote for the bill, which he did.

Mr. Wallace said he, too, would, rather than be recorded against the act, and his position be misunderstood, vote for it. The net was passed with only Mesers. Chapman, Loyle and Anderson recorded as voting against it.

The companion bill providing for the election of Commissioners of the Revernue for the cities by the same method, was passed by the same vote.

It will be recalled that there was a conference of Democratic members of the General Assembly at which it was decided that it would be better to elect the commissioners for the first term and to have them appointed by the judges of the Circuit Court thereafter. There were many who attended that conference who did not regard its action as binding. The House passed a bill carrying out the sene and views of the conference Senator largets and the conference of the conference who did not regard its action as binding. The stitution in regard to "hold-over" Senators, was passed.
